

ARTHUR HAND TRIAL OPENS AT BUCYRUS

Man Indicted on Gallion Bank Robbery Charge Acts as Own Attorney

Bucyrus, Feb. 21.—Acting as his own attorney, Arthur Hand, indicted for complicity in the $175,000 robbery of the Gallion Commercial Savings Bank Co., last June, today tentatively accepted 12 jurors who will hear his case before the Court of Common Pleas of Crawford County. The trial opened this morning in Bucyrus, with Judge Wright on the bench. Of the jurors tentatively seated, 10 are men and two are women.

Examination of the jury expected to be completed and the panel filed this afternoon. The completed jury, the state's attorneys, Hand and his counsel, Attorney C. A. Hill, were expected to visit the scene of the robbery late today.

The state is being represented in the case by Prosecuting Attorney Lewis C. O'Brien of Crawford County, Chester Merck, Toledo, former Crawford County prosecutor, and Ed Myers, Bucyrus attorney. Hand's only counsel is C. A. Hill of Bucyrus.

Hand, who is stocky and debonair, entered the courtroom this morning dressed in a neat gray suit. He is reported to have succeeded creditably well in his examination of the prospective jurors.

Hand's brother, Arthur Hand, brother of Arthur Hand, is at liberty under bond of $25,000 pending the decision of the Court of Appeals at Marion. Wilbur Hand was convicted of participation in the Gallion robbery and was sentenced to eight to 20 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary by the Court of Common Pleas of Crawford County. His case has been before the appeals court but decision has not been given.

UNIQUE PILGRIMAGE IS ALMOST ASSURED

Butler Bill Would Authorize Mothers' Tour of European Cemeteries

Washington, Feb. 21.—A pilgrimage unique in the history of warring nations was almost assured today as the Senate received the Butler bill providing for a tour of European cemeteries for "Gold Star" mothers.

Passed unanimously by the House, the bill is expected to receive early consideration in the Senate.

Under the bill, fathered by Representative Butler, Republican of Pennsylvania, oldest member of the house in continuous service, mothers and unmarried widows of American soldiers in France, Belgium and England would be allowed to visit the cemeteries at the expense of the government.

Estimates of the number who would make the trip range from 3,000 to 6,000.

Noble and several other men were in a box car at Owens Station one day in August, 1924. Residents became suspicious of their actions and notified Sheriff Washburn. When arrested by the sheriff, Noble, it is said, revealed behind him and the sheriff believing he was reaching for a gun, shot him in the leg. He was taken to City Hospital where he remained for several months and where he underwent several operations.

CONTRACT SUGHT

Under the plan now being considered by the commissioners, the city will be required to sign a contract to pay for the board of the prisoners at the actual cost of the meals which, according to Sheriff Deal, has averaged 16.8 cents a meal since June 30 of last year. The matter of collecting for prisoners' board was taken up by the commissioners in September when a state examiner ruled that the county should not be required to bear that part of the jail expense. The bill at that time was $1,227.

That the city is willing to enter into a contract with the county for the future care of prisoners, was intimated by the city solicitor.

FIREMEN START WORK OF PLACING STATION HEATER

The contract provides that the firemen are to help in installing the plant. Twenty-seven radiators will be installed in the building. Fire Chief T. McFarland said today.

$461.37 JUDGMENT AWARDED TO STATE

Seth Knoch Must Pay Workman's Compensation Fee, Court Rules

Judge Scofield this morning awarded the state of Ohio judgment for $461.37 in its suit against Seth Knoch of this city, an action brought to require him to pay a claim filed in behalf of one of his former employees.

The case is the first of its kind ever filed in the local court.

Landing Albrecht, employed by Knoch while the latter was operating a fruit and transfer business here, met with an accident while on duty in 1925 and submitted a workman's compensation claim of $461.37 to the state.

Knoch, it developed, had not provided compensation insurance for his employees and as a consequence the state was forced to sue for the amount of the claim. The action was started on Feb. 1, 1926.

Judgment was awarded the state to day after Knoch had failed to file an answer in contesting the claim.

Should it be found that Knoch has no property on which a levy can be made, the state will pay Albrecht, atorneys in the case said today.

FILLS CROSS PETITION

The Moral Lumber & Elevator Co. filed an answer and cross petition to day in the partition suit of Fred Thompson against William H. Weyand and others, settling up a mortgage claim of $300 against H. H. Thompson, one of the party defendants. The company asks that its claim be paid out of H. H. Thompson's share of the proceeds from sale of property involved in the suit.

Demurrer Overruled

Demurrer filed to the petition of George W. Bolander and others in a suit brought against Jackson Bolander and others, asking for registration of title and partition of real estate, was overruled today by Judge Scofield. In the same suit, Sylvester Larkin was named as guardian for minor defendants during pendency of the suit.

Larkin has also been named as guardian for a minor defendant in the foreclosure suit of Adeline J. Martin and others against Berthens Mossberger and others.

FIND NO TRACE OF TOM VERNO FAMILY

Occupant of Home Damaged by Fire Can Not Be Located, Officials Say

No trace of the family of Tom Verno, who lives at 835 W. Center-st., was found by a fire of mysterious origin early yesterday morning, had been burned by Fire Chief McFarland said this morning. In the meantime an investigation is being carried on by fire officials.

All that can be learned is that Verno and his family left the latter part of last week, ostensibly for a visit with relatives, but where they went or when they are expected to return, is not known.

Employees of the Erie railroad discovered the blaze shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday morning, and called the fire department. When firemen from Central and No. 2 Stations arrived, they found the entire rear of the house as well as a garage on the adjoining lot, ablaze. The damage to the house, which is owned by Fred Baldard, is estimated at $1,200 while the extent of the damage to the household goods cannot be determined until the return of the Vernos.

SECOND 40-MILE LAP OF DERBY UNDER WAY TODAY

Quebec, Feb. 21.—Sixteen eager teams started out from here this morning on the second 40 mile lap of the 120 mile Eastern International Dog sled Derby. The entry of Josephine Peron finished so tired yesterday that the team was scratched from the race.

Sixty-year-old Walter Channing, of Boston, was the first to mush out today, followed by Earl Byrnes, Leslie St. Godard, 15-year-old Paddy Nolan and Leonard Seppal. According to the official draw, Shorty Russick and Mrs. E. P. Hicker were the last to get under way today, having broken trail most of the time yesterday.

Clear, frosty weather overnight had somewhat stiffened the snow surface of the route.

Frank Walk, indicted on a forgery charge, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He is reported to be a resident of Plain City, O. The charge was that he cashed a forged check for $150 drawn on the Farmers' National Bank of Plain City, the money being paid to him by the Houghton Sulky Co. of this city. The check, dated Nov. 2, 1927, bore the forged signature of C. B. Hylcorson.

Sentences Suspended

Imposition of sentence was suspended on Gilbert E. Hammond, 19, indicted on a forgery charge. This action was taken by the judge in consideration of the fact that Hammond's record was apparently clean up to the time of this offense. He was placed on probation for one year. Hammond, whose home is in Marion, pleaded guilty to cashing a check bearing the forged signature of Paul Columbus and drawn on the West Side Bank.

Sheriff Deal said today that the prisoners will probably be taken to the reformatory and penitentiary Thursday.

The indictments were returned by the grand jury yesterday following a session lasting only a few hours in which the cases were presented by Prosecuting Attorney Wiedemann.

Following filing of its report at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the grand jury was dismissed for the remainder of the court term.

The jury held its first session on Jan. 9 and disposed of criminal cases pending at that time. It was dismissed then subject to call. The session yesterday was ordered by Judge Scofield to clean up pending cases and thus avoid having an unnecessary large number held over for the next term of court.

The next grand jury will report for duty the first Monday in May.

White Crow Is Shot By New York Farmer

Farmington, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Scoters who have branded the tales of the appearance of white crows as fabrications or over indulgence in "Old Crow" were confounded by the evidence in the hands of Francis Herenden, of Farmington, who is having a perfect specimen of an albino crow, the first captured on record in Western New York.

Herenden shot the crow from a flock of its normally colored brethren who were feeding on the bodies of muskrats which had been trapped and skinned. Although scientists report that albino invariably have pink eyes, the crow shot by Herenden has the conventional black eyes.

OLD NEW-YORK PIPE MAN SCORNS MACHINERY

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 21.—This city can boast of one of the few remaining pipe makers who scorn machinery in fashioning their creation of meerschaum and briar, with real amber stems.

Born in Cernowitz, Austria, Adolph Weigler worked as an apprentice for five years without pay to learn his trade, which he has followed for more than half a century.

The pipe makers trade is almost extinct, declares Weigler. Tools, material and accessories are getting harder to procure every year, with machine production in pipe making at its height.

"I find a good demand for my products," said Weigler, "for I try to put in them the care that a man likes to have in the companion of his best thinking hours."

London, Feb. 21.—Containing 34,000 biographies, the English "Who's Who" for 1928, just published here, shows that more and more people are becoming famous—or at least well-known.

ENGLISH WOMEN NOW DABBLING IN STOCKS

London, Feb. 21.—Share-gambling is becoming increasingly popular among Englishwomen.

Many Englishwomen with moderate means, according to brokers, are now dabbling in stocks and shares and thereby augmenting—or losing—their pin-money.

According to the brokers, the women gamblers are usually very lucky, and cases of ruinous losses are rare.

"They buy a few shares in rubber, or some other commodity which is apt to fluctuate," said a broker. "Then, on the advice of a friend, they sell when the time is ripe."

"Some of them get to know the state of the various markets, and with a capital of anything from $100 to $500, they are able to buy and sell with a net profit of anything from $10 to $50 a week on the average."

ANCIENT YALE BUILDING WILL BE REPLACED

New Haven, Conn.—The Exchange Building that has overlooked the central green for a century is about to make room for an office structure. Louis K. Leggett, Boston engineer, has bought the old building which was erected one hundred years ago and since then has housed the offices of many men of national repute.

Once the largest building in town the Exchange building was built for about $30,000 while now it is valued at $2,000,000 or more. The city surrounding it has grown from a village town of 10,000 to a place of 200,000 since the building went up.

Great American Safeguard.

Bird-McGinnis post of the American legion is making its annual membership drive. Membership drives by an organization such as the American legion should not be necessary year after year, but until the constitution and by-laws of the organization are changed, it is necessary that they continue, for membership does not continue as it should unless intentionally severed. But there is another reason why such drives should not be necessary. Such is the worth and standing of the organization, such is the character of its aims and purposes, such the quality of the service it has rendered, is rendering and will continue to render its members, the country and all humanity, that every man eligible should want to be enrolled in the legion. Every eligible should seek membership in the legion without waiting for the legion to seek him. Every eligible should want to take active part in the splendid work the organization is doing.

There are perhaps 1,000 young men in Marion and the territory and communities adjacent thereto not represented by other posts who are eligible to membership in Bird-McGinnis post, yet the local post has at present only a few over a hundred of these in its membership. We can not conceive of any good reason why the remaining 900 are not enrolled. There is very reason why they should be.

There never in the history of our land has been greater need of an organization of sturdy Americanism than at present, when the foes of our government and of all government are so active in their endeavors to destroy all institutions representing law and order and liberty. They are on every hand—the pacifists, the parlor pinkies, the communists, the anarchists and their poor, deluded dupes. We read reports of their activities day after day. We see the effects of their insidious propaganda and work in the domination they have attained over an element of the church which they have made their cat's paw. We see their efforts directed to the mental and moral pollution of the young manhood and young womanhood of our colleges and schools. We see their assaults upon every institution we should hold dear.

At such a time, no former service man can afford to fail to identify himself with the American legion. If no other consideration moves him, he should be moved by that of his own interests and those of his loved ones. There is no greater safeguard of the preservation of these interests than the American legion.

The Awful Cost of Sickness.

Crime is said to cost this country $5,000,000,000 annually. We do not know how the immense amount is arrived at, but we have seen the statement made in type a number of times recently that such is the aggregate yearly monetary drain crime has become upon the United States, and it has been made upon the authority of those who have made a study of crime and collected data regarding its cost.

It may be that crime is responsible for the greatest loss sustained year after year by the American people, but if so it is closely pressed by the loss the land sustains through sickness. It is even possible that sickness is responsible for even greater loss than that of crime.

Addressing the Visiting Nurses' association at Elizabeth, New Jersey, one day last week, Miss Elizabeth G. Fox, of Washington, director of the public health nursing service of the American Red Cross, stated that illness brings the physicians of the United States $1,500,000,000 daily; that the hospitals of the United States represent an investment of $5,000,000,000 and that their daily maintenance cost is $2,000,000,000; that two per cent. of the entire population of the land is always incapacitated by illness and that half the population is suffering from some kind of ailment. Assuming that Miss Fox speaks advisedly, let us do a little figuring.

If illness makes the physicians of the land $1,500,000,000 daily, that means $547,500,000 annually. If the daily maintenance cost of the hospitals of the country is $2,000,000,000, the annual cost must be $1,095,000,000. Let us figure interest on the $5,000,000,000 hospital investment at four per cent. That means $200,000,000 more on the annual sickness total. These three items make a total of $1,842,500,000. Certainly the time lost by those who require the services of physicians and the time lost by relatives or others who look after them in cases where nurses are not employed should be worth at the least as much as the amount paid the physicians, so let us add $547,500,000 to the previous total, and we have $2,390,000,000 loss. But this enormous sum does not include the amount paid out for nurse hire, for hospital expenses where such expenses are incurred, for medicines, for funeral expenses where death results. Nor does it include what is probably the greatest single item of loss incurred as a result of sickness—the loss of production. And by loss in production we do not mean alone the loss occasioned by those who are ill and taken from their customary occupations, but also the loss in production sustained by the impaired energies of those with this ailment or that who yet continue at their work and the loss sustained as a result of the depleted powers of those who have sickness in their homes and lose rest and sleep as a result of such illness.

The answer in sickness as in crime is the same—prevention. If we are to reduce the cost of crime, it must come through prevention, by bringing about the observing of the laws of the land. If we are to cut the cost of sickness, it must come by bringing about the prevention of sickness must be given just as much study, if not even more, and be developed to just as high a plane as that of crime. In that way, and in that way only, will the awful burden of sickness borne by the land be reduced.

Plain Facts About Brain Food.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A question frequently asked me is, what should we do, and what should we eat, in order to enrich the brain and keep it normal?

Fish has always been considered a good "brain food." Is this an old superstition or does a fish diet possess some unusual benefit for the brain cells? This is a common question. There is a strong-founded tradition that fish food contains a high percentage of phosphorus, and on this account it is particularly valuable as a brain food.

Of course, phosphorus is a very important substance, and we must have an unfailing supply of this mineral. But fish contains no more phosphorus than other meat. I doubt exceedingly if the brain cells are more benefited by fish than they are by some other forms of flesh.

Of course there can not be brain health unless there is general health. Unless the body is nourished and given the supply of minerals needed, the brain is not nourished, nor is it given the supply of minerals it requires.

I am a great believer in the use of fish as a part of the family diet. It is a matter of regret to me that fresh fish can not be provided every day in the week for those who enjoy this article of food. It is unfortunate that fish eating is limited to the one day.

As time goes on and meat supplies are reduced, I have no doubt the waters of the earth will be called upon, and a good deal of our protein food will come from fish. But random compels me to say that so far as the general physical welfare and brain activity are concerned, fresh poultry will supply the brain food just as well as will fresh fish.

The digestibility and nourishing qualities of fish are beyond question. There is no foundation either for the popular idea that you are in constant danger of poisoning yourself or some other dreadful thing from eating fish. You can not get these disburas any quicker from fish than from any other food which has been permitted to become contaminated.

But there is no one food that will contribute in any special way to the upbuilding of the brain. The brain prospers when the body prospers.

Whenever the manner of living and of eating are such that the general physical welfare is promoted you can be sure that the brain is being nourished. It is the same blood and the same nourishment, no matter whether it is brain or lungs, or liver. What is good for one part of the body is good for all.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

M. C. Q.—What is the cause of hemorrhoids?

A.—I am very nervous and troubled with dryness of the mouth. What would you advise for this condition?

A.—Usually due to sluggish elimination. "Watch your diet, drink lots of water between meals and keep the system clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question."

2.—Your nervousness naturally affects your digestion, and this in turn would be responsible for the mouth condition. Watch your diet, keep the system clear and try to overcome the nervous condition. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. B. Q.—My little boy is two and a half years old and weighs forty pounds. Can I give him a small portion of meat once a day?

A.—Yes.

Editorial Comment.

A FIRST DUTY.

Dr. John McDowell, of New York City, in a recent lecture at Lane seminary, emphasized a truth which should be emphasized upon the thought of every religious communion in this country, for its importance can not be too strongly emphasized.

Said Dr. McDowell: "The church that identifies itself with any particular social, economic or political theory is courting a new division, which can only serve to weaken its power and impair its influence."

Dr. McDowell refers to spiritual power and influence. If a church does not possess these elements it no longer can claim affinity with the mission entrusted to its care.

Churches broadly successful in matters of administration and finance, rich in membership, yet may be as devoid of spiritual essence and influence as the pyramids are devoid of soul.

It is the thought of Dr. McDowell that spiritual essence and force are barred away and lost through this identification with politics and other various outside activities.

This agrees to have been the view of the Founder of the Christian faith, and also of that militant apostle who dared even the brutal and malevolent humor of Nero in a zeal of evangelism which remains without parallel in the story of religion's development.

Dr. McDowell is merely calling the churches "home." He makes evangelism the first duty of the church. He declares that the social and educational work of the church always must be secondary to evangelistic effort and activity. Specifically: "Social service and Christian education are not substitutes for evangelism, but supplements."

The distinguished minister was trying to get a little old wine into new bottles, so to speak. It is fervently to be hoped that Dr. McDowell's re-education of age-old divine advice may inspire some of our latter-day ministry to the performance of a church's first duty.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

JULES VERNE.

Jules Verne was so successful, so instantly and outrageously successful, during his lifetime that he probably would not be particularly thrilled to know that even now, while France is celebrating the centenary of his birth, his books are being read in hundreds of thousands by children all over the world. But none more than he would so appreciate the way in which his wildest prophecies have come true.

"Whatever one may have been able to imagine," he himself wrote, "you may be sure that another man will be able to do." To his books there is everything that exists today, from submarines to television. The children of the children who read his books as they came out grew up to do all that the imagination of the author had foreseen, and what they have not done they are in course of doing.

"In the last twenty years," wrote one of his countrymen, "the advance of the peoples is doing nothing more than living the books of Jules Verne." One of the most curious facts about his books is that his characters, French, Russian, American, English, and even Hindu, are presented without any national prejudice. He was a good Frenchman, but he seemed to have a particular admiration for the Anglo-Saxon race, and his principal heroes are Americans or Englishmen. He lived in a world of fantasy, where national boundaries counted for little.—New York Herald Tribune.

Vagrant Verse.

THE WAKING-UP MAN.

He is a great figure stretched along
The bosom of earth waiting a secret sign.
Who shall come with the keen, sibyllian song
To give him the message divine?
The waking-up man, the walking-up man,
The man who walks up the hill:
Up it, and over, with mystic vision to scan
The great frontiers of the will!

In every age he has been a symbol there,
Stretched and taut and ready to spring.
Waiting today as he did in the far off there
For the true song to sing.

In our time waiting, and yearning, he lies;
And yet he will start in the golden hour
And lift to the lofty limits of dreams his eyes
And go on to the harvest of power.

With him will rise the cities and flower the land,
Of the million-manned armies that take their stand
For the true thing and just,
Sons shall burst in glory before him, and be
Shall banner with glory the night
Through which he stalks to the brim of the mighty sea
To be framed like a wing of the wind in the light.

The Story of Orion.

BY GARRETT P. SERVIS.

For many the interest of the stars is greatly enhanced by the mythological stories connected with them. There is the outline of a whole literature as old as human thought and imagination, pictured in the constellations, and all the ancient poets and philosophers, even the professional astronomer, have concentrated upon the scientific aspects of his subjects, is ever indifferent to the romance of the constellations. Practically he uses them merely for their mark out the geography of the heavens, the chart of the universe, without which his discoveries could not readily be located.

The constellation stories include the oldest conceptions of human fancy. It was a romantic time in the history of the mind when such conceptions found a canvas on which they could be ineradicably pictured in the rays of the living stars. Their freedom there was never successfully contested, the heavens were made over to them by the common, and never retracted, consent of mankind. One of the mysteries of their beginning is that the same personifications seem to have originated in far separated lands, among different peoples. They represent the fairy-book of the world's childhood, when the mind, yet untrained by science, was opening like a flower in the sunshine of the imagination.

Foremost in stately splendor among the constellations, and in the evenings of February especially conspicuous in the sky, appears Orion.

"Eastward beyond the region of the Bull Stands great Orion; who so kens not him in cloudless night Gleaming aloft shall cast his eyes in vain To find a brighter sign in all the heavens."

The mythological hero represented by this huge, warlike figure among the stars has a story admitting many variations, though the main drift of it is sufficiently clear. Orion was the son of Neptune, the god of the sea. He was of great stature, and Homer speaks of him as "illustrious Orion, the tallest and most beautiful of men." He became famous as a hunter, but, falling in love with Merope, daughter of Oenopion, King of Chios, he was so enraged by the king's delay in consenting to a marriage that he tried to carry off Merope. His father than had Orion's eyes put out. But the blinded hero was told that the pure rays of the sun-god could restore his sight, and hearing the sound of the Cyclops' hammer echoing in the ground, he followed it to the forge of Vulcan at Lemnos. Vulcan, out of pity, sent Kedalion to guide the blinded man, and on his way to the abode of the sun-god, Orion with his giant strength carried Kedalion on his shoulder across many lands until he met Apollo, who restored his sight.

Afterward Orion became a favorite hunter and a savior of Apollo's sister, Diana, the chaste moon goddess. Her brother was indignant that a half-mortal should aspire to his sister's hand, and resolved to destroy him. His scheme was as unworthy of his godhood as it would have been of his manhood, if he had had any. Seeing Orion wading in the sea one day, with only his head emerging like a floating object, Apollo challenged Diana, who was a matchless archer, to hit "that black thing" with one of her arrows. She innocently launched the shaft with unerring aim, and Orion was slain.

As his body was gently floated to the beach by the breakers the goddess demanded of her father, Jupiter, to exalt Orion to the stars and to place him forever in that shining vault with his hunter's belt, his club, his shield of lion's hide and his long, swordlike hunting knife. Behind, following him at headlong speed and carrying the brightest star of heaven, flaming in the wind, was placed his huge hunting dog, Sirius.

This is surely as good a story as modern professions could invent; and then, just think of its age, emblazoned for thousands of years on the heavens themselves.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

Odd and Interesting.

On a recent day in England the fog was so dense over Croydon aerodrome that it could not be located by the pilots of several air liners arriving from the continent. Star and smoke shells were fired from the aerodrome, and fires were lighted, but in spite of this three machines were unable to find the landing ground. The application of physics has produced a number of important instruments for the work of assistance to the cotton industry. In a special tester the irregularities in a yarn are magnified 18,000 times in a wonderful way by a shoe riding over, and indicators and mirrors produce on a moving bromide strip a photographic record of every minute change of twist.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTIRE.

New York, Feb. 21.—As grand as many New York hotels are, they are not grand enough for many patrons. At their own expense they knock down walls to make two rooms into one, import decorators to fashion murals and furnish them according to individual tastes.

New bath-rooms are installed, so are parlors, and sometime pipe organs. Such apartments are usually manned by a quota of personal servants; not attached to the hotel, but the tenants have all the service the hotel provides plus their own. It offers living on a scale not possible in apartment-houses.

There are some who take an entire floor of a hotel with the space of from fifteen to twenty rooms. And what pops the eyes of many of us from the forks of the creek is that these apartments are usually occupied only a few months of the year. One bachelor had two rooms converted into a bath.

The floor is of sea green glass with water flowing under it and the walls and ceiling are paneled with mirrors. The plumbing fixtures are of sterling silver and the cost exceeded $50,000. The space rental alone is $10,000 a year.

In one of the hotels overlooking Central park, a millionaire has the entire frontage of one floor and his rental is $73,000 a year. Hotels make no reductions in such instances because a family of say five occupying seventeen rooms represents a loss to the dining-room.

This splendor in hotel living is a gesture of prosperity springing up in the past five years. It marks the almost complete passing of the family mansion in the city proper. Those who have not gone to the de luxe apartment-houses have gone to hotels.

Operative G I of my monocle department reports a steady increase of wearers. Among confirmed adherents are Otis Skinner, George Arliss, Lowell Sherman, Andrea de Segura, Laurence Dorsey and a dozen others not so well known. The recent visit of Ferenc Molnar, the Hungarian playwright, added fuel to the monocle craze. Mr. Molnar is reputed to wear his while he sleeps. Quiet, but silly.

There are, incidentally, many Americans seen abroad wearing monocles who fear something or other to wear them at home. It does require a courage beyond the average American.

It is not such great shakes to wear a monocle attached to a cord, but to wear one unattached is downright art, if art can be downright.

One finds the monocle in strange places. A steamer porter at Plymouth, England, wears one and to tip him is almost like tipping the duke.

New York editorial writers carry their editorial page dignity into private lives. They are rarely seen at "first nights" or other public gatherings. And only a few are known by name to readers. Most of them live in suburban homes like country gentlemen and once in a while one will be seen at an art exhibition or a lecture on some learned topic. Quite a number were once reporters, but outgrew the slightly roystering manner of the guild. The editorial writer, if he comes to the office, arrives after other workers. He has leisure to make his product finished, and he leaves first. Some of them express their whimsical side in writing those letters to the editor signed "Veritas" and "Tro Bono Public."

Every now and then a hole-in-the-wall magic shop breathes the Broadway entertainment tide with a window artist to compete with the theater, movies and such. They struggle for a brief period and sink. But one can not help admiring their optimism.

Two New Yorkers, according to the newspapers, have retired from "active work to engage in literary pursuits." What do they think writing is anyway—a Maypole dance?—Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

They Wear a Pearl Necklace.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Unlike most African men, the males of the village of Maundaung, in Central Africa, are very domestic. Indeed, they spend as much time at home taking care of the children and the house as do the women. And since this is such an uncommon sight in Africa, it is more than worthy of note.

The Maundaungs wear practically no clothing at all. The men wear a pearl necklace, numerous pearl bracelets, a walking stick—and that's all. The women wear even less. However, the daughters of the chieftains are dignified by little pearl-embroidered aprons.

This village is one of the neatest of all the savage villages. The huts are built along regular rows. On the roofs of the huts the corn cribs are placed, covered with straw lids. At harvest time the men of the village have a ceremonial dance. Looking like nothing more than bottles of wine encased in straw, the tribal sorcerers encase themselves in strange attire, made of fibre, and decorated with pelican feathers and porcupine quills. While this dance is in progress, no woman may approach. It is sacred to the men of the tribe alone.

Maundaung is a peaceful village. The people live a happy, busy life. Poverty is practically unknown to them. The men are farmers, fishermen and shepherds, and are most conscientious in their work.—Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

New Hair Style from New York

"I've so little time to myself," Mildred Warshaw, lovely New York City girl who lives at 1353 42nd St. Brooklyn. "That's why it's been a help to me to learn the new hair style. Now I just put a few drops of Danderine on my brush every day and hold it in place. All I need is shampoo a month, now. It stops dandruff, and my hair is always shining and silky, instead of looking stringy like it did before I was using Danderine." Danderine does more to bring out natural color, the gleam and lustre of your hair, than any shampoo or cream. It removes all the dust, and oil film from your hair—keeps it away. All drug stores have bottles. Lovely hair and a healthy scalp for a few cents!—Adv.

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

A MAN is not necessarily in love when he tumbles for a girl. But when he falls so hard that he can't stop going—that's the test.

Nothing seems to bore a man so much as a woman who tries hard to please him, and nothing seems to intrigue him so much as a woman who succeeds in tormenting him.

A "feed" is the cold chicken and pie a man sneaks out of the ice-box after he has returned from a "banquet."

The cause of most of this "walking home" we hear about is a girl's age-old tendency to think that what she sees in a man's eyes is the love-light, when it is nothing but the sparkle of curiosity or the glint of adventure.

Life would be almost perfect if men would only take the trouble to make their alibis after marriage as plausible and flattering as they do their telephone lies before marriage.

Philander says, "If a suspicious woman can't find any other woman in a man's life, she can work up a fine case of jealousy against the woman she thinks he THINKS about."

The first sure sign of real love in a man is when he stops flatterer and begins to moralize.

From the way the average man clumps his hair down on his head with pomade these days, you'd fancy he was thinking of Samson and defying any woman to run her fingers through it.

You can get let off for murder on the plea of insanity, but not from marriage, no matter HOW crazy you were when you did it.

To a man, the most uninteresting thing on earth is a girl's address in his last year's telephone list. Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

LARGE VALUATION ON TELEPHONE PROPERTY

James Commission Estimates
Worth at Near Half Million Dollars

Kenton, Feb. 21.—Tentative valuation of the properties of the Kenton Telephone Co. here for rate making purposes, placed at $447,874.44 by the James Commission, according to information from Columbus.

The valuation is of Feb. 1, 1927, and the commission refused the telephone company's set up of $50,000, claiming as going concern value.

The fixing of the tentative value, however, Kenton and the telephone company have 30 days in which to object.

Whether or not the city is to protest, the valuation is not definitely known.

James Brown, Hardin County prosecutor, said today that the matter of the valuation would be left to the state body for an increased rate.

The new rates of the company are being collected, however. Bond in the amount of $14,000 has been posted to guarantee the utility in event a new rate should be decided.

The tentative valuation reached by the commission was based upon figures furnished by commission engineers who appraised the properties here.

COMING STARS of the MOVIES Mary Nolan

ONE-TIME heroine of Broadway's most spectacular romance, Mary Nolan has "settled down" to a career that promises
many good things in Hollywood.
In case you're not quite sure who Mary Nolan is, perhaps you'll recognize her more readily under her own stage name of Imogene Wilson.

Mary—or Imogene—was born in St. Joseph, Mo., and left an orphan at an early age. She was placed in an orphanage and worked as a slave, finally running away to

New York with her brother.
There she became an artist's model, then graduated into musical comedy. After her romances with Frank Timmer became nationally exploited, she went abroad and starred in a L.F.A. film in Germany.
Her work was so good that American producers quickly got her back again.

Her beauty was reflected so well in her Hollywood debut that her future is now assured. In fact, there are few prettier women anywhere than Imogene—or Mary.

MAY LIMIT PARKING

Fire Truck Company Officials Meet
With Mt. Gilad Council

Mt. Gilad, Feb. 21.—Probability of parking on West High street being restricted to the south side of the street seemed imminent here last night when the Council ordered Clerk B. D. Hur-ton to prepare an amendment to that effect. This amendment will not affect the entire distance of W. High, but from Rich to the T. & O. C. Depot. This is the narrowest portion of the street.

A representative of the Howe Fire Department presented a proposition to the Council whereby they might become possessors of new fire-fighting equipment without obligating themselves if they so chose. The company offers to solicit enough money outside of the corporation to pay for the equipment with the understanding that rural districts nearby will receive fire protection.
The Council will take this matter
under advisement.

Attorney Howard Gongwer, of Man-field, working with the council on a water franchise, was present to meet with representatives of the Mt. Gilad Water, Light, Heat & Power Co., local branch of the C. D. & M. Co. of Marion, but these representatives were not present, and nothing definite was accomplished. The company has been promised with an offer in regards to rates but nothing has been answered as yet. Pressure tests at the Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. are anticipated.

Street Commissioner B. A. Hendrix will be authorized to select a helper and recommend him to the council. The wages will be either 30 cents per hour straight time or 35 cents per hour actual time.

WANT GATE SERVICE

Dunkirk Council Requests Full 24 Hour
Service at Crossing

Kenton, Feb. 21.—Special counsel representing the town of Dunkirk have filed application with the state utility commission, Columbus, asking that they require the Pennsylvania railroad to maintain 24-hour gate service at the

that the state body will direct the Pennsylvania to maintain the 24-hour gate service at Main-st. Such action has been recommended by utility engineers who have completed a careful check at this crossing. It was said.

Steps to improve the protection were taken by the Dunkirk council recently after three crossing fatalities were reported in the town within six days.
Special counsel was hired and recommendations passed for full 24-hour gate

Delaney To Meet Maxwell In Main Go Of Boxing Show

22-ROUND CARD TO OPEN FIGHT SEASON HERE NEXT MONDAY

Reserved Seats on Sale; Plans Near Completion for Opening Bout

BY KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor

Paul Delaney, fast Mansfield middleweight, has been selected by the boxing committee of the Eagles Lodge to meet Chuck Maxwell, Lima, in the main go of their 22-round boxing mill card Monday night.

The old boxing gloves have been removed from their dusty niche in the attic as the way is being cleared for Marion's first fight card of the season. Other bouts it has been announced, will follow in the near future.

Renewal of the main sport of nose punching is expected to meet with approval of local fans who have been waiting for some time for a bit of fast ring action.

Chuck Maxwell is rated as one of the fastest middleweights in the state and is being groomed from a real place in boxing circles.

Although only 18 years old, the snappy Lima fighter is a veteran ring general and willing to take it at all times giving fans a good show. He is proving quite popular around Delphos and Ft. Wayne.

Starting when quite young, Maxwell has built up a fine reputation having met with slings of the calibre of Red Norton, Detroit; Johnny LaMarr, Chicago; Al Wilkins, Niles; Young Keller, Toledo; K. O. Hodges, Toledo; Frankie Kennedy, Columbus; Jimmy Kilbane, Columbus; Shorty McDougall, Kalamazoo, and many others.

Delaney should not be a set up for the Lima youth if past performances can be taken at their face value. Among the fighters he has faced in the ring are Joe O'Malley, Larry Posen, Jack Penny, Ted Easterbrook, Jack Suen, Micky Flynn and Jack McDowd.

These two boxes are scheduled to go eight rounds to a decision. Both are to weigh in at 155 pounds.

Reserved seat tickets have been placed on sale at the Eagles Lodge and the Marion Billiard Parlor.

SEEKS FAVOR

Dundee May Be Reinstated By New York Commission

New York, Feb. 21.—The New York Boxing Commission is reported to have requested the California Commission for information as to the status of Joe Dundee in that state, indicating that the welterweight champion may be reinstated here if he settles his difficulties on the coast. William Muldown of the New York Commission, however, is known to oppose Dundee's reinstatement here because of the champion's failure to go through with his match with Ace Hickins on the coast last year.

Dundee is seeking reinstatement by the New York body so that he may fight Hickins here next month.

TRACK RECORD MAY NOT RECEIVE OKAY

Lloyd Hahn Will Race Peltzer and Conger Next Week

New York, Feb. 21.—Ray Conger's feat of running 1,000 yards in the record time of 2:11 in Kansas City last Saturday night probably will not receive official recognition because there was no border of any kind around the track. According to the rules of the A. A. U. there must be a border of boards, rope, cement or other material around the track.

The oversight of the track officials was revealed by Lloyd Hahn, whose winning streak was snapped by Conger. Hahn was the victim of similar negligence on two other occasions this season.

Hahn, who had been quoted as saying in Kansas City that he would not race Conger again because of the latter's alleged "elbowing" tactics, said he probably would meet the Illinois star and Dr. Otto Peltzer, the German ace, in the mile event at the Knights of Columbus Games here next week.

TERRIS IS FAVORITE
New York, Feb. 21.—Ed Terris, local lightweight contender, was an 8 to 5 favorite today to defeat Jimmy McLarin, of California, in their 10-round bout here Friday night.

Strangler Lewis Wrestling Champ

Given Undisputed Possession of Title After Match with Joe Stecher at St. Louis; Takes Two of Three Falls Before 10,000 People

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 21.—Ed Strangler Lewis is the undisputed heavy weight wrestling champion of the world today. He proved his right to that title last night when he pinned Joe Stecher two in three falls before a crowd of better than 10,000 people.

The first fall went to Lewis in 2 hours and 16 minutes, a combination of brawn arm, head chancery and cross body. The second went to Joe Stecher in 56 seconds, the result of a double wrist lock, and the third and deciding fall was won by Lewis, a double wrist lock on the left arm with Lewis throwing his full weight on his opponent. This one came in 14 minutes.

The body of Stecher, which brought down "unbroken coils" and won for Joe Stecher a title place in the wrestling world, failed for him last night and he crumpled under the terrific punishment of Lewis. The Strangler at the close of the match made the public announcement that he did not win the championship, but defended it.

Both Lewis and Stecher lay claim to the title and last night's match brought to the close a seven year feud. It was the 10th battle between these men.

BIG TEN LEADERSHIP REMAINS UNCHANGED

Wisconsin and Purdue Win Hard-Fought Tilts Over Iowa and Michigan

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Divided leadership of the Big Ten basketball race remained in status quo today as a result of two championship contests which were fought out last night.

Purdue defeated Michigan, 55 to 33, at Lafayette, while Wisconsin was busy managing Iowa, 31 to 21, over at Iowa City.

The Purdue-Wisconsin deadlock for first place thereby remained intact. Each team has now won six games and lost one. The Boilermakers had been sailing along unbeaten until they bumped into Indiana at Bloomington Saturday night.

Wisconsin still has several tough games to play, including a brace with Purdue. This, however, may prove as tough for the Boilermakers as for the Badgers. Of the two schedules, Wisconsin is believed to have a harder row to hoe than Purdue.

Both of last night's games were hard fought, according to reports from the battlefronts. Cummins, Murphy and Captain Wheeler were the heavy artillery that swamped the Wolverines at Purdue. At the end of the first half they had piled up a lead of 21 to 14.

The Badger-Hawks affair was a simple case of a stronger team beating a weaker one. Wisconsin led at the half, 16 to 6. The Hawks rallied in the second period and came within four points of overthrowing the victors, but they couldn't stand the pace.

A two point margin held by Pleasant cagers at the half last night proved too great a lead for the Harding High School Reserves last night. The local team lost, 22 to 20.

Pleasant led at the half with the score standing 6 to 4. In the last half both teams scored 16 points.

THERE'S ANOTHER raid being planned on the American Treasury, and no less an eminent dough-getter than Luis Angel Firpo, one-time Wild Bull of the Pampas, is the gent behind the raid aforementioned.

Luis doesn't intend any ring come-back. The wallop who gave Prof. Dempsey his greatest thrill and spilled him into a ringholder's lap is probably through with the squared circle forever, as he has grown fatter than ever, and now resembles a super-dreadnought. However, Salicrú seems to run

DANGEROUS THREAT
New York, Feb. 21.—Kid Francis, bantamweight champion of Italy, appears to be about the most menacing of the foreign menaces now campaigning in this country. After giving a splendid exhibition of boxing, the kid knocked

EASY LIVING CAUSE OF JACK'S FAILURE, SAYS N. Y. TRAINER

Legs Could Be Made as Good as New If Dempsey Trained

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 21.—Will H. Dempsey is not all over and done with; he very readily could be made the next heavyweight champion of the world, succeeding the man who succeeded him, and for the asking, he can have no sound a pair of legs as a six-day bicycle rider.

There is absolutely no catch in this proposal, I am informed today by the man who makes it, Artie McGovern. He staked Ruth's career to an annuity that may yet outgrow the main structure he says he sees no reason why he cannot do the same for Dempsey. All that is required of Dempsey, it seems, is that he furnish a chronic attack of common sense and sit Turner with a right punch at the right time.

Personally, it is a question which of these requirements will prove the more difficult to perform but that is beside the point, which is that there are at least two men who think that Will H. Dempsey is far from through. I suspect the other one is Will H. Dempsey.

The latter, according to McGovern, is simply a victim of toxic poison, brought on by years of absurd diet. New diet, new legs, the trainer says in effect and he ought to know. These many years he has been passing out now legs to those who have none and taking away old ones from those who have too many or something. There is nothing the matter with Dempsey's legs, McGovern says; they surely reflect his general condition, which is bad because his diet and training are bad.

"His diet at Saratoga for the Sharkey fight included concoctions that should be barred from Dempsey's table," the trainer declared. "His training included daily runs upon the road. These not only are unnecessary; they are ruinous. At Dempsey's age his energy should be conserved, not burned up."

"It is a common opinion that Dempsey still would be champion if it were not for his weakened legs. Strong legs mean nothing more than perfect physical condition and Dempsey's legs are only as weak as the other parts of his body. I believe that a systematic course of physical training designed to promote better functioning of his internal organs and combined with a rigid diet, rather than a course of training for the development of muscular power, would put Dempsey in an fighting shape. Once that state is achieved with him, almost anything could happen.

"Duke Ruth was supposed to be through in 1925 because his legs were gone. In the Babe's case, which I founded personally, the legs that were said to be 'shot' staked Ruth to his last seasons in 1926 and 1927."

"What was done for Ruth, was certainly can be done for Dempsey. The Babe is older than Dempsey and has had more years of athletic vice. To my mind, toxic poison, impregnating his system, has made his legs what they are. But they can have to stay that way."

Training Camp Briefs

Catalina Island, Cal., Feb. 21.—Fern Jones, one of the star members of the Cubs' pitching staff, was happy today over the success of the operation on his pitching arm. Jones suffered much last season with the salary wing and finally had a few bones chiseled out of it. He tried it out yesterday for the first time and declared it "okay."

New York, Feb. 21.—The world's champion New York Yankees are booked 12 exhibition games for this season, as follows:

April 15, Baltimore; May 3, Washington, N. Y.; May 16, New Haven, Conn.; June 1, Toronto; June 18, Toledo; June 25, Johnstown, Pa.; June 29, Harrisburg, Pa.; Aug. 8, Albany, N. Y.; Aug. 28, Providence, R. I.; Aug. 29, Hartford, Conn.; Sept. 15, Columbus, Ohio; Sept. 14, Indianapolis.

New York, Feb. 21.—Now that short-stop Mark Koenig has signed a two-year contract, the only members of the New York Yankees not in the fold are Pitcher Waite Hoyt, Outfielder Fred Combs, Tony Lazzeri and Urban Shocker, who announced his retirement.

The U. S. Bureau of Foreign & Domestic Commerce estimates that Americans spent $650,000,000 a year abroad, most of it in Europe.

New York Bookmakers Fight New Racing Bill

BY FRANK G. MENKE
(Copyright 1928, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

A BAND of powerful bookmakers is back of the fight to kill the bill in Albany legislature which would legalize pari-mutuel wagering in New York State.

If pari-mutuel wagering came into existence in New York, the bookies would become extinct and so would their business which nets them a profit of from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 annually.

The bill provides that three per cent of all money bet in the machines would go to the state. That might mean about $10,000,000 annually—and that $10,000,000 less burden upon the taxpayers of the state.

The racing fans want pari-mutuels. They long since have become weary of syndicate books—and bookmaking rings that are conducted only with the motive of enormous profit for the bookies—and the bookies of the public. Pari-mutuels would help the state $6,000,000 per year.

But the bill hasn't a chance for passage because there is no organized support for it, whereas the opposition offered by the bookmakers is concerted—and undoubtedly is backed by plenty of money—if needed.

The man who introduced the bill in the legislature said:

"Hypocrisy exists in New York racing today—and of the most flagrant kind. To bet on horse races in this state is not legal, yet any living man can do so."

WHEN BACK HURTS FLUSH OUT KIDNEYS

Drink Lots of Good Water All Day, Also Take Salts Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grams of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

"CONSTITUTION" IN LAST CRUISE: TAKEN TO DOCK

Charleston, N.Y. Feb. 20.—The final cruise of the U. S. Frigate Constitution, victor in 42 naval battles for the supremacy of the seas in the days when the United States was a struggling nation, was made in taking the vessel into drydock from an anchorage just outside the drydock.

Lieut. C. H. K. Miller, of Philadelphia, stood on the bridge of "Old Ironsides," planks that had been kept by Darrow, Rodgers, Isaac Hull and other heroes when the Constitution was battling with French, British and Tripoli pirates.

The cruise of about 100 yards took nearly 12 hours to complete and in that time Lieut. Miller did not leave the bridge of the ship. The Constitution was placed in the drydock without the slightest injury, not even a bit of paint being scratched from her sides in the trip.

Defeated Wapakoneta on Own Floor, 27 to 24

Marysville, Feb. 21.—The Marysville High School basketball team added another game to its long string of victories Saturday night, when it defeated the strong Wapakoneta five on its home floor by a 27 to 24 score. Wapakoneta lost four games on its schedule this season, two to Marysville and one each to Lima South and Van Wert.

Wapakoneta led at the quarter with a 6 to 4 score, but was trailing at the end of the half with the score standing 12 to 9 in Marysville's favor. The game began to get risky in the third quarter when Koenig, husky center for Wapakoneta, started looping the ball for several points for his team.

Wilcox was the outstanding star for Marysville, caging five baskets and four free throws making 14 points to his credit.

Bradley's Drug Store, Henney & Cooper Offers Trial of Wonder Working Capsules On Money Back Basis

There's nothing in the world that brings such quick and complete relief from the pain and misery that makes life almost unbearable as those tiny green capsules known from coast to coast as Allenthu Number 2.

More than one man and woman whom horrible rheumatism has been carrying down to helplessness—suffering the torture of the damned—can testify to this.

All you have to do is take one tiny capsule each hour for the first ten hours, the next day one every two hours for 14 hours then take one directed.

In spite, however, of all the claims made for Allenthu Number 2—in spite of the remarkable results obtained by others these little green capsules must prove themselves in your particular case. For that reason Bradley's Drug Store, Henney & Cooper and good druggists everywhere have been authorized to make this guarantee: If after taking one full bottle of Allenthu Number 2 as directed you are not satisfied—go back and get your money.—Adv.

ENJOYS BEST OF HEALTH SINCE HE GOT KONJOLA

New Medicine Ended Years of Suffering From Stomach and Nerve Disorders

MR. ROBERT E. CONVILLE

"Konjola gave me new health in every way," said Mr. Robert E. Conville, 1908 Howard St., St. Vrain, Ohio, "and I am free of stomach trouble and nervousness I had been suffering for more than ten years."

"My whole system was in a very bad condition. My nerves were unstrung and I was unable to sleep at night. I could not eat a good meal because of the misery I would suffer afterward. Besides these troubles, I was suffering with neuritis pains in my legs."

"I read about Konjola and the good it was doing others so I began taking this medicine. I noticed that soon I was able to eat better and digest my food. My nerves quieted down and I could sleep through the entire night. Finally the neuritis pains left me and now I am in perfect health and I owe it all to Konjola."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that have been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sons Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

The main strength of the Prospect team rests in Koenig, sharp-shooting forward, and "Toby" Johnson, six foot center. Agosta's best bet is Tron who is the defensive star of the club, and who has recently developed an uncanny ability to hit the bucket from mid-court.

SENATE CONSIDERS MUSCLE SHOALS BILL

Ten-Year Battle Over Power Project Enters Its Final Stage

Washington, Feb. 21.—The ten-year battle over disposition of the $100,000,000 Muscle Shoals project entered its final stage today when the Senate began consideration of the Norris plan for government operation of the property as a power project.

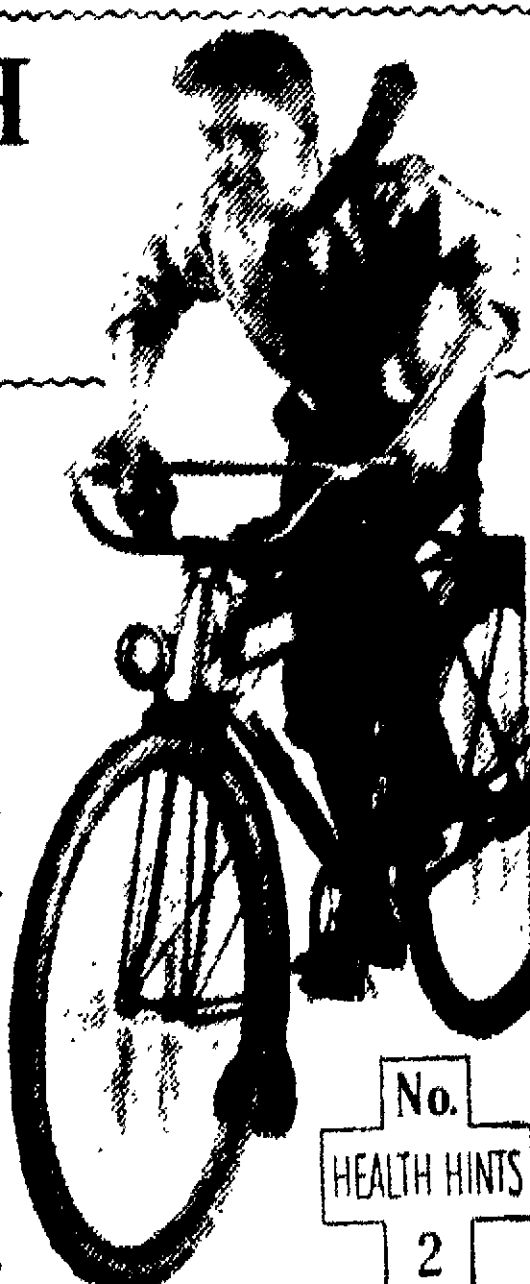

Senator George W. Norris, Republican of Nebraska, introduced his bill after ten years of battling by congressional colleagues on the Senate agriculture committee, that fertilizer control be manufactured at Muscle Shoals cheap enough to give any benefit to American agriculture. He demonstrated that with statements from private concerns, including the great Dupont Powder Co. and the General Electric Co., that the fertilizer process used at Muscle Shoals had passed into the hands of foreign nations. The bill was passed by the Senate.

HEALTH HINTS For Parents

Here's a way to make the most delicate boy hale and hearty, and "hard as nails." A way to build his body, and put on weight. Heed this hint, and no boy or girl of yours need ever take another cathartic!

Most ailments of children begin with being bilious; and the trouble then and there, with a spoonful of California Fig Syrup. Nothing stronger, nothing else. The bowels will do their duty without using force! If your children have already contracted the laxative habit, fig syrup will wear them away from it.

California Fig Syrup is a purely vegetable product. It will do any child a world of good; it is, in fact, a very wonderful conditioner for children or adults. Its rich, fruity flavor is so delicious, it's no hardship to take! Nor can it harm even an infant! Only one caution: be sure to get the genuine California Fig Syrup; don't neglect to say "California." It isn't expensive—sixty cents for a generous bottle at all dealers.

No. 2 HEALTH TINTS

Try California Fig Syrup two weeks on any child, and let his altered appearance and actions tell the full story!—Adv.

SNOW HALTS DELIVERY OF MAIL IN COUNTRY

Rural Carriers Find Roads Impassable in Several Sections Near Here

Rural mail carriers out of the local postoffice had their own troubles when it came to making their way through the snow drifts in many places on their routes Monday. While practical, easy and inexpensive it is to provide them with a good road, it is a deep mystery why there isn't their deliveries, three of the carriers more of that sort of thing.

J. S. Whaley, R. R. No. Two, Clyde, Mo., R. R. No. Seven, and Nevel James, R. R. No. Eight, were unable to complete their routes because of the snow. Mr. Whaley's route taken him through Fayette, Mo., then to the Green Camp Post Office and back to the postoffice.

City mail carriers also were handicapped by the snow and this combined with the heavy Monday mail caused a delay in the deliveries in the residence district.

BROOKHART DEMANDS MOVIE INVESTIGATION

Senator Declares Film Industry Run by Gigantic Monopoly

Washington, Feb. 21—Another investigation was proposed today in the Senate whose calendar already is heavily burdened with a variety of inquiries.

Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, announced he would demand a sweeping investigation into the alleged "movie trust" when hearings are held before a committee on his bill to prevent block booking. Under this arrangement exhibitors must book for an entire output of a particular corporation or get no pictures at all. A companion bill was introduced in the House by Representative Hudson, Republican of Michigan.

"The motion picture industry is run by a gigantic monopoly," said Brookhart. "The smaller independent producers are being forced to the wall unless they accept the holdings of the trust. Congress should take steps at once to break the monopoly through the passage of remedial legislation."

Hudson is opposed to such an inquiry as planned by Brookhart.

"I do not favor Congress setting itself up as a quasi-judicial body," he said. "We had enough such investigations and should now turn our efforts to constructive legislation."

Brookhart explained that the picture industry was a proper subject for congressional inquiry "because it is a potent force in influencing public opinion."

Quarter Billion Dollars Will Be Made Available by U. S.

Washington, Feb. 21—A quarter of a billion dollars of fresh capital to further the economic rehabilitation of Germany, Austria and Hungary will be made available by the alien property legislation now approaching its final stages.

This legislation is regarded as the most important action looking to German rehabilitation, for it is Germany of the former enemy countries that is primarily affected.

See United States as Nation of About 200,000,000 Inhabitants in 75 Years; Say Country Will Stop Growing

Present Excess of Births Over Deaths is 1,000,000 Per Year

CAN SUPPORT POPULATION

Health Service Officials Say Birth Rate Decline Not Due to Control

Washington, Feb. 21—The United States probably will round out into a nation of 200,000,000 inhabitants in about 75 years and then stop growing. This was given today as the opinion of experts at the U. S. Public Health Service, who said the present excess of births over deaths is approximately 1,000,000 a year.

The birth rate of about 20 per 1,000 population, however, has been declining in the last 10 years, not only in the United States but in other civilized countries. The decline in the birth rate probably will be greater than the fall in the death rate, which has been as much as 50 per cent in the last 10 years.

Medical scientists said that it has been found that all civilized nations have a gradual increase in their population up to a certain maximum—about 200,000,000—and then stop growing. This is a population which can be properly supported by the natural resources of the country, and that then the number of inhabitants remains at a fairly constant level.

This country in the view of the great accomplishments of science would have no difficulty in supporting a 200,000,000 population, according to the Public Health Service. Country particularly will be a factor in providing the necessary food, better transportation will make greater cities possible, inventive genius will put the farms on an urban standard of living.

Conditions cited

The decline in the American birth rate is not race suicide, experts declared. While economic pressure tends to reduce families in the application of birth control, there are believed to be many biological factors as well.

HOPE TO BREAK MARK OF CAPT. CAMPBELL

Keech Encounters Trouble at Claimed Speed of 240 Miles Per Hour

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 21—Frank Lockhart, of Indianapolis, and Ray Keech, driver of J. M. White's 30-cylinder racer, will again attempt to better the auto-speed record established by Capt. Malcolm Campbell of England, of 206.95 miles per hour over the Ormond-Daytona Beach course.

Keech said that yesterday as he hit the starting flag he was going 240 miles per hour and he had not given the triplex 70 per cent of the gas, but just then vibration broke a pump line and severely scalded him when the water flew back. He was practically recovered from his injuries today after hospital treatment for burns.

Lockhart whizzed over the course at an officially timed speed of 209.2243 miles per hour against the wind, a rising tide prevented his run with the wind. Campbell's speed against the wind when he established the new world speed record was 190 miles per hour. Race fans were confident that Lockhart would break the world's record today.

Captain Campbell said that he would not race his Napier Bluebird again unless his record is broken. He would then attempt to win back the speed laurels for England.

No attempt was ever made to add amendments to the Ten Commandments or there might have been eighteen by now.
